MitrahSoft, Kovilpatti

October 2023 - Present

Project 1: Conference Management System | Role: Full Stack Developer

- Developed full-stack application using React Native, Node.js, and Express.js
- Developed REST APIs for authentication, session management, and participant modules
- Implemented JWT-based authentication and role-based access control
- Designed and managed database schemas for users, sessions, and participants
- Integrated APIs for scheduling, discussions, notifications, and real-time updates
- Implemented offline data sync, QR-based check-in, and performance optimizations
- Implemented API validation, error handling, and structured request-response flow
- Optimized API performance through efficient queries and data handling

Project 2: Expense Tracker Application | Role: React Native Developer

- Developed AI-powered personal finance mobile app using React Native
- Implemented natural language-based expense entry for seamless user input
- Built features for expense tracking, budgeting, and financial analytics
- Integrated APIs for transaction management and data handling
- Implemented search, filtering, and reporting functionalities
- Optimized UI performance and ensured smooth user experience

KEY ACHIEVEMENTS

- Delivered enterprise-level mobile applications used by thousands of event attendees and organizers
- Integrated AI capabilities across multiple projects, including natural language expense entry and real-time AI-assisted conference query resolution via WebView
- Successfully implemented push notifications, QR code scanning, offline storage, and digital wallet integrations
- Improved application performance through React Native optimization techniques including memoization and lazy loading
- Contributed to multiple production releases and feature enhancements in Agile cross-functional teams
